The 2018 IEEE Symposium Series on Computational Intelligence (IEEE SSCI 2018) is a flagship annual international conference sponsored by the IEEE Computational Intelligence Society promoting all aspects of computational intelligence. The IEEE SSCI 2018 co-locates several symposia in one roof, each dedicated to a specific topic in the computational intelligence domain, thereby encouraging cross-fertilization of ideas and providing a unique platform for top researchers, professionals, and students from all around the world to discuss and present their findings. The IEEE SSCI meeting features a large number of keynote addresses, tutorials, panel discussions and special sessions all of which are open to all the participants. Each symposium will award the best student paper and a best overall paper award. The IEEE SSCI 2018 will be held in Bengaluru, India, a garden city, also known as the Silicon Valley of India.
